Douglas Development's Matthew and Norman Jemal were checking out their Engine 6 firehouse property on Massachusetts Avenue the other night when they noticed sounds of merriment across the street. And thus they happened to find themselves in front of a camera at Buddha-Bar DC's Grey Goose Summer Soiree.

Norman tells us the restaurant Sixth Engine (outdoor seating!) will open by the end of the year at their 400 Massachusetts Ave. (their supposed reason to be in the neighborhood). His dad Douglas Jemal bought the property, the oldest firehouse in DC, built in 1855, from the District in 05.
